Long Distance Phone Strike Set By Union

Stoppage Slated At Midnight Over Pay Hike For Workers

NEW YORK (AP)—Long distance telephone workers in 42 states and the District of Columbia have voted to strike at midnight today, a union spokesman said today.

"The vote is definitely for a strike," said Miss Elaine T. Gleason, national director of the Long Lines District, Communications Workers of America.

She said final results of the nationwide vote will not be known until later today but added:

"I feel that no matter how many other votes come in, the strike vote will out."

The contract between the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the union ends at midnight. A strike would involve about 25,000 Bell System employees. They are mostly traffic operators and plant craftsmen who maintain long-distance equipment.

A company spokesman said yesterday that if a strike is called the company will attempt to maintain service by using supervisory personnel.

Negotiators failed yesterday to reach agreement on a new contract. The talks are to continue today.

A CWA spokesman said the principal points of disagreement are a general wage increase and a request by management for a no-strike clause.

Miss Gleason said a walkout would affect other services of the company, including service for television and radio networks by coaxial cable and microwave. Telephone service and telephone service to foreign countries and to ships at sea.

The long-lines section of the union has members in all states except New Hampshire, Vermont, Delaware, South Dakota, Montana and Nevada.

Salaries vary in different sections of the country. Plant workers in this area get from $32 to $119 a week.

Two Youths Held For Slaying Of Federal Employee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two 18-year old youths were held today in the fatal stabbing of a government clerk.

Police Capt. Lawrence A. Hartnett said James H. Swearingen and Gerald Otis Lauderdale had admitted beating and knifing Louis J. Teboe. Hartnett quoted the two youths as saying Teboe refused to keep a promise to give them money.

Teboe's body was found in an alley behind his Pennsylvania avenue apartment about five blocks from the White House early this morning of Dec. 13. Earlier he had visited several bars with companions.

Caribbean Federation Governor Sworn In

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—The Federation of the British West Indies comes into being today as a member of the British Commonwealth with the swearing in of Lord Hailes as governor general.

The Caribbean islands joining in the federation take a big step toward independence but London will continue to supervise the federation until it approves efforts to establish effective self-government.

Dr. Salk Gives Hint

Polio Study Group To Widen Research

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP)—Broad hints have been made that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis may take under its wing other diseases—possibly under the heading of virus research.

One of these hints came from Dr. Jonas Salk of the University of Pittsburgh. In a speech prepared for delivery today, the vaccine discoverer said: "The significance for the future is that the National Foundation will go on being a foundation for whatever it will do."

"To this name something may be added in place of 'infantile paralysis'; but this will not change the fundamental character of the institution that has become the instrument whereby people can do for themselves, and their fellow man, what might not otherwise be done."

His voice is not an official one, but his name is bound to be closely identified in the public mind with the Salk vaccine and the fight against polio.

"We await eagerly to learn of the direction of the National Foundation of the future, but we do this without concern because we are sure that the people will continue to support the search for truth in the present and of the future," he said.

There is no official confirmation that the National Foundation will indeed focus its attention on other medical problems.

But supporters are playing on that theme, among them Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who founded the organization.

Mrs. Roosevelt told the National Foundation's 20th anniversary celebration that in addition to rehabilitation efforts, the polio foundation would broaden its research.

Stuck Valve Causes Fires

KOKOMO, Ind. (AP)—High gas pressure early today in mains in southeast Kokomo, caused by a main valve sticking in an open position, resulted in one home being destroyed by fire and explosion and in fires in several other homes. Numerous furnaces and water heaters were damaged, police said.

The mains in the area were shut off at 3 a.m. Police went from door to door warning residents to turn off their pilot lights. Radio station WIOU broadcast repeated warnings.

The Kokomo Gas Co. repaired the valve and the gas was turned back on at 3:50 a.m.

Italians Irked As U. S. Singer Quits, Saying She 'Lost Voice'

ROME (AP)—Italy's newspapers and music critics almost unanimously condemned prima donna Maria Meneghini Callas today for sending a glittering opening night audience home from the Rome Opera after only a third of an opera.

The stormy soprano last night said she had lost her voice and refused to continue after the first act of Bellini's "Norma." But virtually every front-page headline and critic in the land of opera blamed the walkout on irritation over the cool reception—and a few catcalls and whistles from the balcony—after her first big aria.

It was the first time in the Rome Opera's history that a performance was not completed. The New York-born singer, heretofore one of Italy's musical idols, finally fled in tears through an underground passage to escape a 1,000 irate music lovers jeering outside the opera house.

Miss Callas denied the catcalls caused her to quit, telling Il Messaggero's critic: "Whistles do not frighten me. If I had really been in proper condition, I would have reacted to the whistling by singing as I have never sung before."

Today the singer was in her hotel room and refused to see newsmen or speak on the telephone. Her husband, retired manufacturer Giovanni Battista Meneghini, said two doctors were to see her today and "we will not know what plans we can make until after they have examined her."

The operatic fiasco immediately lifted the floor of the Italian Parliament, whose appropriations keep Italian opera houses operating.

Socialist Deputy Luigi Renato Sansone demanded that Premier Adone Zoli tell the Chamber of Deputies "what the government intends to do . . . to prevent a recurrence of such an undignified procedure." The government has to reply to the question but need not do so immediately.

Solon Cites Fast Action On Missiles

Johnson Declares Group Expediting Defense Projects

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today the Senate Preparedness subcommittee is making progress toward "substituting action for tranquilizers" in the national defense field.

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, heads the subcommittee which will resume Monday its public inquiry into U.S. missile and satellite developments. Secretary of Defense McElroy and his deputy Donald A. Quarles are expected to be among the first witnesses.

Overtime Curbs Removed
McElroy testified previously the greatest single stumbling block to getting missiles into production was the limitation on overtime work on development projects. He said he had removed the limitation.

"We got some quick action on this overtime matter," Johnson said in an interview. "We are making progress toward our primary goal, which is to substitute action for the tranquilizers that have been handed the American people in a time of crisis."

Johnson said he will interrupt the hearings Tuesday to lay before a conference of all Democratic senators a summary of subcommittee testimony. He denied, however, that there would be any political implications in this move.

Meanwhile, Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) raised the issue of whether the subcommittee is going to get a look at the Gaither report on the state of the nation's defenses. Symington challenged as "only a partial truth" last week's statement by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty that the report does not indicate the United States is in a position of weakness at this time.

Never Made Public

The report, prepared by a committee headed originally by H. Rowan Gaither Jr., has never been made public. But newspaper reports have said it pictures this country as being in the gravest danger in its history.

It was understood the White House remains firm about not disclosing to the Senate group the conclusions reached by the Gaither panel committee. Since the report has been made a National Security Council document and is labeled top secret, one member said the subcommittee is not likely ever to see it.

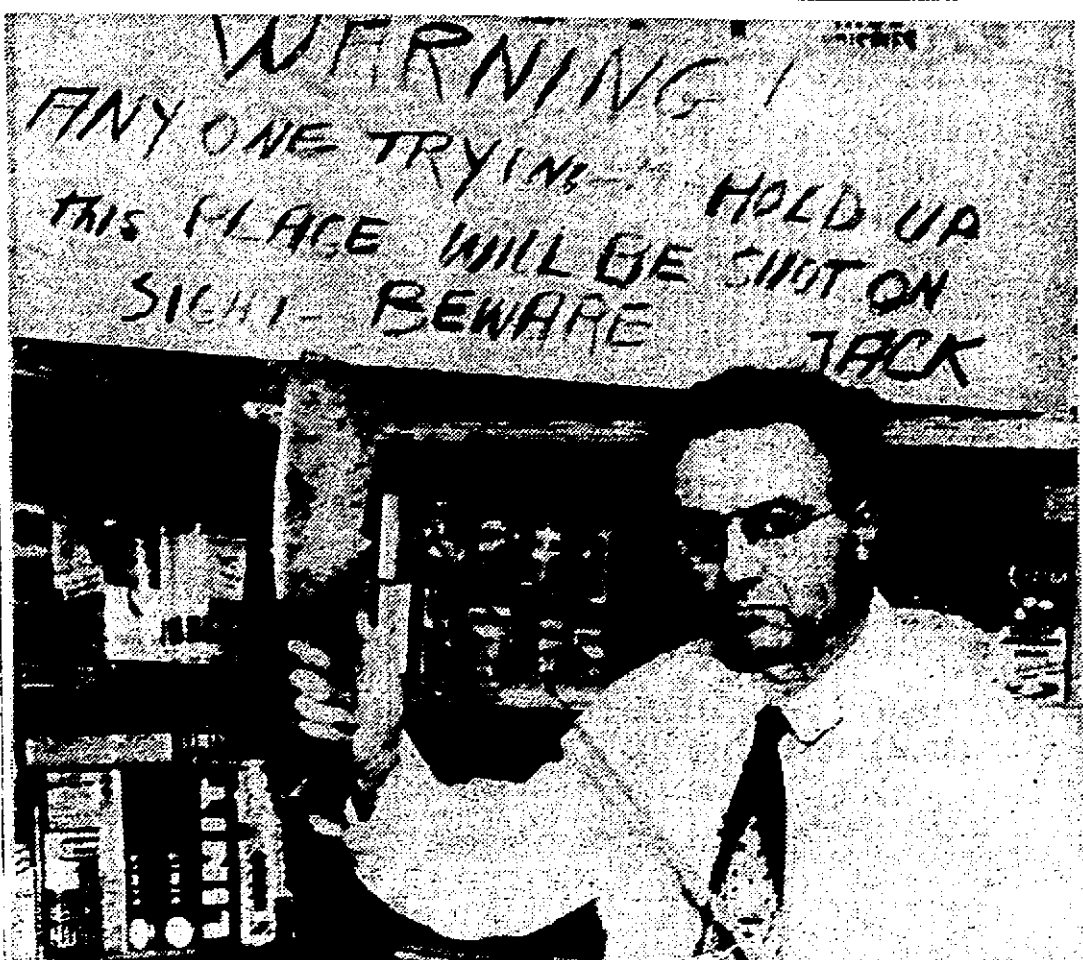

In this connection, Symington said it might be wise for the senators to seek testimony from some of the members of the Gaither panel.

"The people have a right to know what conclusions the Gaither committee reached," he said.

Panama Canal's Revenue Hiked

BALBOA, C.Z. (AP)—The Panama Canal Co. reported today that the closing of the Suez Canal last year boosted its revenue by three million dollars.

Summarizing operations in the year ended last June 30, the company said about 1,600,000 long tons of cargo that would have gone through the Suez came here instead. The Egyptians blocked the Suez Canal after the November 1956 attack by Britain and France, and it was not cleared until April 1957.

HE'S REALLY FED UP.—Hagop (Jack) Koomjian, 54, operator of a grocery store in Philadelphia, has been held up 18 times since 1945. Last night four men tried to make it No.

Dixie Chilled As Frigid Air Blankets U. S.

By The Associated Press

The season's coldest weather enveloped most of the country today from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast and little immediate relief was in sight for the major sections of the icy belt.

Freezing weather dipped deep into the Southland. Northern sections of Florida reported readings in the 30s, with a freezing mark of 32 at Pensacola. It was 35 at Tallahassee, Fla., and in Georgia, Atlanta shivered in a below-freezing mark of 28.

The Midwest, where the severe cold has continued for nearly a week, was slung by zero and below readings.

The freezing weather extended north of a line from the Carolina coast to southern sections of Alabama and Mississippi northward and westward into Arkansas, southern Kansas and the northern Texas Panhandle.

The below-zero Midwest zone embraced areas in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and the Dakotas and the northern third of Illinois, including northwestern suburbs of Chicago. It was 3 below at the international airport northwest of Chicago.

Temperatures were 10 to 18 degrees lower in New England and other Eastern areas compared with yesterday morning. Zero readings were indicated in mountain regions as far south as West Virginia.

Soviet Marshal Returned From Turkish Border

MOSCOW (AP)—Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky has returned from his special assignment as commander of the Soviet military district bordering Turkey. This presumably writes a finish to last fall's Syrian-Turkish crisis as far as the Russians are concerned.

The government announced last night that the 60-year-old World War II hero was back in Moscow in his old job of deputy defense minister.

Rokossovsky was put in command of the forces near Turkey and Syria Oct. 23, when the Soviet government was warning the world that Turkey planned to attack Syria and the Russians would come to Syria's aid.

U. S. Accepts Soviet Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top-ranking economic negotiator, Mikhail A. Menshikov, has been accepted as the new Russian ambassador to the United States.

Diplomatic officials said the State Department formally notified the Soviet government that Menshikov was acceptable after considering the nomination for two weeks.

Menshikov, a former envoy to India, was credited with being the driving force behind major economic deals with that nation.

Cold Weather To Keep Grip

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five-day forecast: Temperatures will be six to eight degrees below normal. Continued cold over the weekend, moderating somewhat early next week but turning colder again late Tuesday or Wednesday. Some snow or rain late Monday or Tuesday. Precipitation will average less than one-fourth an inch.

Soviet Takes Guards From Berlin Area

BERLIN (AP)—Special Soviet guards failed to reappear in East Berlin today. They apparently had been on the lookout for Russian soldiers who might have deserted during the holiday merrymaking.

The Russians were withdrawn early last night. Regular East German police resumed patrolling border crossings.

The British announced that a Soviet sergeant had escaped to their sector of the city and asked for asylum. They did not disclose whether he got it.

West Berlin newspapers published two reports of Soviet desertions, one that six officers had fled from an army camp and another that a sergeant, two soldiers and a high Soviet officer had escaped to West Berlin. Allied spokesmen and West Berlin officials said they knew nothing to support either report.

Argentine Group To Visit Russia

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Government sources say the Argentine Communist party secretary Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev in a New Year's toast said such a meeting could solve most of the world's problems.

The Moscow papers printed assessments of reports from New York, London and elsewhere under identical headlines saying "People of the world favor meeting between Eisenhower and Khrushchev."

London Writer Says Ava's Face Scarred

LONDON (AP)—A Daily Express columnist said today Ava Gardner damaged her beautiful face in an accident in a private Spanish bull ring last autumn and now needs an operation before she can make another movie.

William Hickey, the columnist, gave no source for his story but said: "Ava has been told she must have an operation, possibly followed by minor plastic surgery. But she is terrified of undergoing the operation and has so far refused to do so."

The accident was said to have occurred when the screen star, fell from a horse during a visit to the private bull ring of Angel Peralt, a leading Spanish horseback bullfighter.

Civil Rights Group Begins Racial Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a send-off from President Eisenhower, the new Civil Rights Commission embarks today on a 20-month study of the nation's touchy, racial problems.

On the commission are three Southerners and three Northerners—one of the latter a Negro. To them, Congress assigned the difficult job of finding and treading some sort of middle ground on racial and rights problems, then coming up with some kind of constructive report and recommendations by Sept. 9, 1959.

The big question is whether the commission can produce something the North can accept and the South can tolerate.

One immediate need is to find a staff director, who will be chief administrative officer and shopkeeper for the commission at a salary of $22,500 a year. The President will make the appointment after talking it over with the commission. The staff director's nomination, like those of the commission members, is subject to Senate confirmation.

The commission is a product of a compromise civil rights law Congress enacted in late August—the first legislation in this controversial field in some 60 years.

Largely, the commission was set up as a fact-finding, study and advisory agency.

Soviet Press Urges Parley

MOSCOW (AP)—Every newspaper in Moscow today took up the Soviet cry for a meeting between Communist party secretary Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev in a New Year's toast said such a meeting could solve most of the world's problems.

The Moscow papers printed assessments of reports from New York, London and elsewhere under identical headlines saying "People of the world favor meeting between Eisenhower and Khrushchev."

New Zealand Group Wins Daring Trek

Hillary's Tractor Party Arrives With Fuel Supply Scanty

AUCKLAND (AP)—Sir Edmund Hillary, first man to conquer Mt. Everest, the highest point on earth, today reached the South Pole, at the bottom of the world.

He radioed the dramatic news to Scott base, the Ross Sea point from which he and his party set out Oct. 15.

After more than 1,200 miles across the antarctic continent, Hillary radioed that he and his tractor party of four other New Zealanders had arrived at the pole with only one drum of gasoline to spare.

Join 17 Americans
"We were cutting it rather fine due to the very soft snow," he reported.

The five New Zealanders joined 17 Americans stationed at the International Geophysical Year base the United States has established there.

Hillary's companions are Murray Ellis, Peter Mulgrew, Jim Bales and Derek Wright.

The New Zealand men's cold, hazardous trip took them along the Ross ice shelf, up the Skelton glacier and over the treacherous, crevasse-torn polar plateau.

Among their stores they carried two New Zealand flags to plant at the pole, marking their country's efforts in antarctic exploration.

Already at the pole is a cardboard New Zealand flag dropped there when former Minister of Railways McAlpine flew over last October.

Hillary's four vehicles towed seven sledges loaded with supplies and fuel, most of it for the depots to supply the transantarctic British expedition with which the New Zealanders will return.

The New Zealanders also took a special caravan Hillary had designed to give them comfortable living quarters in the bitter cold and tearing blizzards on the polar plateau.

The tractors were fitted with little cabins and endless web tracks over their wheels.

Hillary's party followed much of the 1,200-mile route of Capt. Robert F. Scott of the British navy, who raced Roald Amundsen of Norway for the pole in the antarctic summer of 1911-12.

Amundsen won by a month, becoming the discoverer of the South Pole. Scott's five-man party perished on the way back to the coast at McMurdo Sound.

Hillary set out Oct. 14 from Scott base, his camp near McMurdo Sound. His original destination was a point 700 miles inland in the direction of the pole.

Traveling by snow tractors, Hillary's expedition deposited caches of food and fuel for a British party led by Dr. Vivian Fuchs which is pushing toward the pole from the opposite side of Antarctica south of South America. Fuchs is trying to make the first overland transantarctic trip, hoping to end up at Scott base.

Hillary was to wait for Fuchs at the 700-mile point. But on Christmas Day he radioed that he was "hell-bent for the South Pole, God willing and crevasses permitting."

Fuchs was last reported about 300 miles from the pole.

Benson Faces New Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Republican and Democratic senators today warmed up the hot seat for Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.) said he expects the Senate Agriculture Committee will call Benson sometime during the week starting Jan. 13, and that he would be surprised if the questioning does not take up at least two days.

Some committee members said the questioning will be sharply critical.

Benson long has been a target of many farm state Congress members.

Mental Cases Get Better Treatment At John Hopkins

BALTIMORE — The spacious room is warmly decorated. There is a homelike fireplace at one end. Couches, chairs and tables are tastefully arranged.

This is a medical ward at Johns Hopkins Hospital. Only recently established amid the usually stark hospital surroundings, it represents a new concept in the treatment of mentally ill.

GI Will Face Court Martial On Spy Charge

WASHINGTON — M. Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes, who had admitted selling military information to the Russians while stationed in Moscow, will face a general court martial on spying charges.

An Army announcement said Rhodes will be tried at Ft. Lesley J. McNair here. No trial date was set.

Rhodes, 40, testified during the espionage trial of Soviet Col. Rudolph Abel in New York last October that he was paid the equivalent of $2,500 to $3,000 in rubles for giving information to the Russians while stationed at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

The Easttown, N.J., soldier's name was found in some of the Russian colonel's documents. Rhodes, convicted of espionage and given a 30-year sentence, is appealing.

If convicted, Rhodes would face a maximum penalty of life imprisonment, dishonorable discharge and loss of all pay and allowances.

Israeli Cabinet Approval Sought

TEL AVIV — Premier David Ben-Gurion says he hopes to present a new cabinet for Parliament's approval next week. He added it possibly will include the same five parties in the coalition that resigned Tuesday.

The Premier told a literary meeting last night he has completed talks with political leaders on composition of a new government.

Parties in the last Cabinet were Ben-Gurion's Mapai, Mizrachi (Religious Orthodox), Liberal Progressive and the left-wing Ahduth Avodah (Labor Unity) and Mapam (United Workers).

Coal Production Drop Estimated

WASHINGTON — The National Coal Assn. today estimated bituminous production for the week ended Dec. 28 at 5,725,000 tons. This compares with 5,771,000 tons mined during the same week in 1957. In both years, the week included the Christmas holiday.

Production through 1957 until Dec. 28 was estimated at 494,440,000 tons compared with 499,226,000 tons from Jan. 1 through Dec. 28, 1956.

SAN FRANCISCO — A shortage of university trained engineers?

A thousand of them in the San Francisco Bay area, many of them $10,000 a year specialists in defense projects, are hunting jobs, says a placement bureau spokesman.

Joseph R. Decker — manager of the Engineering Societies Personnel Service, a cooperative job placement bureau — said that twice as many bay area engineers are looking for work now as there are jobs, a reverse of the situation a year ago.

Report Reds Now Operate Atomic Subs

STOCKHOLM — Soviet Russia probably already has three atomic submarines, the Swedish naval yearbook Marinkalendern said today.

The 1958 yearbook, issued today, suggested two may be in the Baltic Sea and the other in the Far East.

It gave no details. The Marinkalendern estimated the total of Soviet submarines at more than 400.

Because of their geographical proximity to Soviet navy bases in the Baltic, Swedish naval experts are often ahead of others with information on Soviet naval power.

Britain's leading publication on naval power, Jane's Fighting Ships, said in its recently published 1957-1958 edition, that the Soviet Union "is pressing the development of the atomic-powered submarine."

But Jane's pictured the United States as the only naval power with atomic submarines in commission.

Truckers To Demand 'Hot Cargo' Clause

DETROIT — James R. Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters Union, said today Teamster locals have been instructed to demand inclusion of "hot cargo clauses" in contracts, despite an Interstate Commerce Commission ruling against them.

Hoffa told a reporter: "Our lawyers say the commission ruling is subject to a court case and we have instructed them (local unions) to continue the clause until the courts have tested the ruling."

Faubus Delays Action On Legislature Call

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Gov. Orval Faubus said yesterday he is waiting to see if the federal government changes its attitude on school integration before he decides whether to call a special legislative session to deal with the issue.

The governor said there would be no reason for a special session if the government takes a new look at the problem and slows down school integration.

Venezuela Dictator Has Neglected Nation's Poor

By The Associated Press
Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez, fighting to retain the presidency of Venezuela, rose to power nine years ago in a power vacuum created by long-time political chaos in his oil-rich tropical country.

Since then he has worked tirelessly to strengthen his regime and to give it the veneer of legitimacy.

Virtually the only concession to democracy made by the 43-year-old dictator has been his insistence on going through the motions. Less than three weeks ago Venezuela's voters were given a choice in a national referendum: Perez Jimenez for another five years or no one.

The polls were hardly closed when the government announced that the President had won a resounding victory.

Born in the Andes village of Michelena April 23, 1914, he is the son of a schoolteacher who also farmed and sometimes ran a small business.

As an artillery officer he attended Venezuelan military schools and took a key post with the army general staff in 1944. The next year he had a major part in the revolution which overthrew President Isaias Medina Angarita.

Political chaos continued, and in 1948 President Romulo Gallegos was ousted. Perez Jimenez, as defense minister, was the leading figure in the new military junta.

The chaos continued. Acting President Delgado Chalbaud was assassinated two years later. But the junta retained control, and Perez Jimenez, at 38, became president in March 1952.

Uninterested in showmanship and bombast, he did little to stir Venezuelans' imagination. Instead, he concentrated on consolidating his power and increasing his booming country's economic development.

Venezuela's Constituent Assembly approved a new constitution in 1953 and the National Assembly formally elected Perez Jimenez to a five-year presidential term. There was no popular vote.

Perez Jimenez has stressed the prosperity of the country and his regime's extensive public works program. With oil money pouring in, railroads, highways, housing projects and schools burgeoned.

Despite the rapidly increasing prosperity at the top, however, large numbers of Venezuela's laborers continued to work for as little as a dollar a day. Gahantytowns grew up on the outskirts of prosperous Caracas.

The government's neglect for the welfare of the poor has brought repeated criticisms from the Roman Catholic Church. Archbishop Rafael Arias chided the regime for "maldistribution of wealth," lack of concern for unemployment and suppression of labor unions.

Bank Call Issued
WASHINGTON — The controller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks at the close of business Tuesday, Dec. 31.

She said she hoped to make it up to the public by singing "Norma" Saturday night, when last night's tickets will be honored.

But in Naples another soprano, Anita Cerquetti, said the Rome management had wired her a request to fill the role Saturday. Miss Cerquetti said she accepted.

Last night's conductor, Gabriele Santini, said the singer "informed us yesterday the condition of her voice was not good. However, we advised Miss Callas to face the performance all the same because it would have been impossible to find a substitute for her."

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Adlai's Prospects

WHEN THE Eisenhower administration invited Adlai Stevenson to consult on plans for the Paris NATO meeting, it naturally wasn't much concerned over the effect this might have on the political fortunes of the two-time Democratic presidential nominee. But Washington observers say now that Stevenson's three weeks in the diplomatic showcase stirred fresh interest in him as a 1960 prospect. Up until this moment it has been largely a foregone conclusion that Stevenson's day as a presidential candidate was over. He himself has said a number of times that he would not try again. His goal is reported to be the secretaryship of state in a Democratic regime.

A FAIRLY recent poll of 1956 Democratic convention delegates by Charles Cleveland, Chicago Daily News political editor, disclosed that four-fifths of the 1055 did not favor another Stevenson nomination. Since his brief tour of duty in the capital, however, there are several reports of an upturn in Stevenson sentiment among these delegates and other political figures. The only Democrat in history aside from Franklin D. Roosevelt to gain three presidential nominations was William Jennings Bryan: His bids were not consecutive, coming in 1896, 1900 and 1908. And he lost in all three tries.

IN POLITICS almost anything is possible, so one dare not say that Stevenson might not try again in 1960 and win after two failures. Many do not forget that he twice polled more votes than any losing presidential candidate in history. But neither can it be forgotten that in many important quarters there was a great deal of resistance even to a second nomination for him in 1956, and that many leading Democrats felt his campaigning that fall left much to be desired. Add to this the natural urge of politicians to seek new faces to captivate the voters. All in all, Stevenson's new political lease on life counts as an interesting phenomenon. But the developments thus far suggest he is still no more than an outside possibility for 1960.

NELSON Rockefeller is reported losing interest in a proposal that he seek the New York Republican nomination for governor. And it is not because he can't afford the campaign expenses.

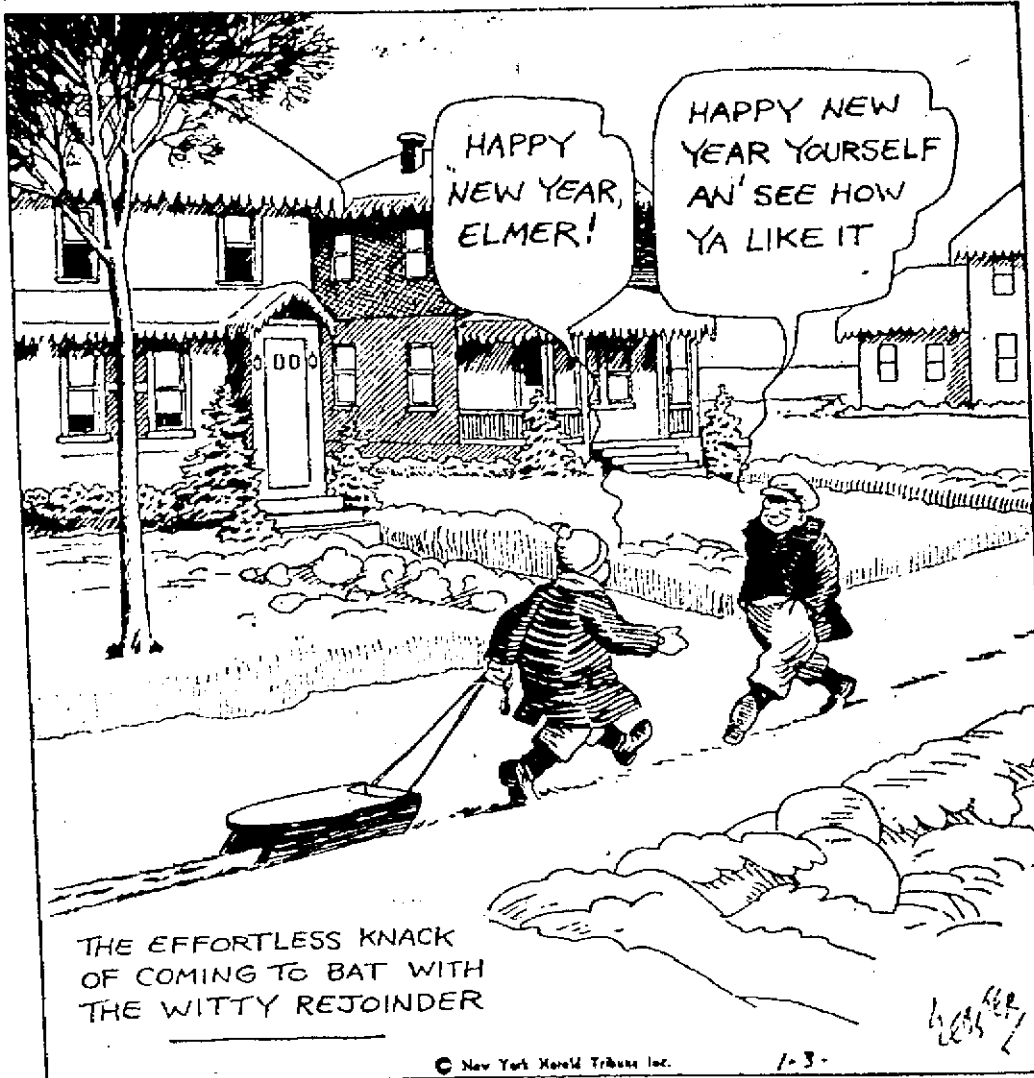

Aid For Housing

HOUSING construction is one of the main pillars of the nation's economy. When housing starts are off, that is a sign of trouble. That is why economists are disturbed at the 1957 housing picture — some 926,000 housing units started, as against a goal of one million and a need variously estimated at totals higher than that. The administration has recognized the problem in a concrete way by releasing 177 million dollars more of the funds voted by Congress for military housing, urban slum clearance and redevelopment, and cooperative housing projects. That will be a substantial aid to the housing industry. It also should have a tonic effect on the general economy. Not everyone is happy about the administration's performance in the field of housing. Senator Sparkman, chairman of the Senate housing subcommittee, already has expressed the view that the government should have acted sooner. He is by no means alone in thinking this way. He and other critics of the administration also feel that the maximum interest rate on FHA-insured mortgages should be lowered in a further move to stimulate housing construction. The important fact, at this juncture, is that the government has begun to use its powerful weapons against an economic slump. If housing can be made to boom next year, the likelihood of serious trouble in the economy will be far less than it might otherwise be.

THERE SEEMS to be general agreement that regardless of how important study of science may be, the three Rs should not be completely blotted out by a lone S.

Whole World Is Rosy For Eleanor Steber

NEW YORK—On the day after her marriage this week, the Metropolitan Opera's red-haired fireball Eleanor Steber hung into her dressing room. She was la-la-ing like nobody's business.

But Miss Steber wanted to make it everybody's business, she was that happy; and so she said, as she clutched her hands to her bosom, Tosca style:

"Ah, it is the greatest love story ever written... a wonderful, wonderful story. He said he was coming back to marry me, you know. You didn't know? Well, he did. And he did."

MISS STEBER, lately Mrs. (Major) Gordon G. Andrews, hummed some more and asked for a cigarette on which she choked lightly before resuming.

"We met in Saigon—the only place we could have met, the most romantic place in the world. He came backstage—this was last March, you know—and I knew, I just knew. I said to myself, 'Brother, this is it!' (Miss Steber only addresses herself as 'Brother' on very special occasions.)

"Then I had to leave, and he had to stay, and he said (isn't it wonderful?) that he would come for me, and last November he did. Isn't it terrible, though. The day after we were married he had to go to work at 6:30 in the morning, and I had a full day's rehearsal."

THE FAMOUS soprano grinned. "I don't really mind though. What time is it? My watch says 11:20 but it's afternoon. Because I'm learning a new role in a new American opera that I feel was written just for me. It's about a woman who waits 20 years for her lover to come to her. Isn't that lovely? Just like me, only I didn't wait for 20 years, but for all my life."

La Steber, as her friends address her, was referring to "Vanessa," the first American opera to be done at the Met in years. Written by Samuel Barber, with libretto by Gian-Carlo Menotti, it will have a gala world premiere January 15, with Eleanor in the title role.

She hesitates to predict its popularity.

"PERSONALLY, I think it's a very beautiful opera," she said.

"The American public has always accepted verbatim everything that came from Europe. It takes nerve and real courage for the Metropolitan to really go all out and introduce an American opera by an American composer, and say here, we will give it to you. It's not an old standard, but you'll get used to it."

So you can't predict the appeal of an opera as you can predict the outcome of a romance. (She was back on her favorite subject again.)

"I believe in astrology, you know, and Gordon and I just couldn't miss. He's a fish and I'm a crab. By the way, is it after four? My watch still says 11:20."

IT WAS WELL after four and Miss Steber said "Oh my" in round, lyric tones and wiggled into her coat. On the way out, she paused long enough to give an ecstatic sum-up of her emotions.

"This has been my year, professionally, but I'm interested mainly in being this man's wife. Saigon, Gordon, world, I love you!"

Political Fight Seen In Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If President Eisenhower comes up with a recommended balanced budget for next year he's in for some trouble with both the Republicans and Democrats in Congress this session.

The White House has already said it will ask for an extra billion dollars for this year to spur ballistic missile work. It's reported that an additional two billion dollars for more missile development will be included in the 1959 fiscal year money requests. A request is likely to be made for a boost in foreign aid spending. And a big sum will be asked for aid to education.

This will necessarily mean that some domestic government programs will have to be cut if there is to be a balanced budget, which is the prospect that Congress does not like to face.

A DEMOCRATIC congressman sees it like this:

"If the President sends up a balanced budget it'll be a political maneuver. He'll assume that Congress will not make the cuts on domestic programs which he must recommend. But he'll be able to blame Democratic control of the two houses for putting the government in the red."

Republican congressmen don't take kindly to the possibility of the sending up a balanced budget, either. Relations between the GOP legislators and the White House deteriorated through most of the last session.

The feeling of a lot of Republicans last session was that they had poor communications with the White House and that a lack of administration leadership hampered their work in Congress. Many GOP legislators, returning to town from long visits to their home states, report sharp and unfavorable public reaction to the administration from the launchings of the Russian Sputniks.

A REPUBLICAN congressman, anticipating a recommended balanced budget, puts it this way:

"Having to support administration cuts in veterans benefits, the farm program or any other domestic programs is just to saddle us with an additional handicap when we go to the voters next November."

It is reliably reported that the White House will want something from the five billion dollar veterans budget. Veterans lobbies may have slipped in importance in Washington.

But recommended cuts in widows' pensions, disability payments or veterans hospital care is all they need as a rallying cry to regain their old power.

The Republicans have had chronic trouble with the farmers and any recommended cuts in America's agricultural programs will just make it more politically hazardous for GOP farm-belt senators.

When you get into the rest of the federal programs they're so small by comparison, savings in them are hardly worth fooling with.

THE DANGERS in the approaching session are the veiled threats of both Democrats and Republicans to "get even" with the White House for attempting to achieve a balanced budget. This could result in all sorts of politics and maneuvering, beyond what usually goes on during an election year.

Recommending an increase in taxes is one solution to speeding up the missile program and keeping a balanced budget. But Congress isn't enthusiastic about this one, either.

Simply agreeing to get into deficit spending to speed up the missile program would be an easy way out for the President. But it's reported that he is adamant about trying to maintain a balanced budget and still believes it can be achieved.

It is said that this is what he meant when he told the public it had to "roll up its sleeves" after his return from Paris.

Propaganda

NIKITA Khrushchev recently issued a challenge to the United States to compete with the Soviet Union in the fields of production of goods and world trade. It is likely that he was talking only for propaganda effect.

He would scarcely expect even the gullible to believe that the Soviet Union could out-produce this country in consumer goods.

If he were serious it would be a boon to mankind. The free world can more than hold its own in any constructive race with the Soviet Union. If the competitive energies of the great Russian state could be diverted to producing goods for peace, all mankind would benefit.

We would not dare take such a challenge too lightly. At present we are geared to out-produce the Russians, but they do have a tremendous potential and we should not deceive ourselves with the notion that they are too backward to offer real competition along this line. Their success in the field of missiles should be enough to discredit any such notion.

Yet if we put forth our best effort we could win out. Besides, it would be a contest in which there would really be no loser.

Russia, through its efforts to outdo us, would raise its own standard of living; the increased production of consumer goods would make it easier for the rest

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — If there is a sudden rise in the suicide rate in New York in the next few weeks it will be because Kermit Bloomgarden, within three weeks of each other, has produced the two fattest hits on Broadway: "Look Homeward, Angel" and "The Music Man."

And all because he passed all of last summer combing Broadway and side streets, notably 45th and 44th, wheeling, cajoling, begging anyone, anyone at all, to give him $200 to invest in the production funds for the shows. Actors, stage managers, writers, TV executives, news announcers, violinists, even curtain pullers, were given every chance to invest even the smallest sums — and most of them declined.

Since each show will make a million or more clear, the decliners are looking for pistols and pints of formaldehyde with which to do away with themselves. Which brings to mind another notable refusal of several decades gone. Actually, it was about 50 years ago when it happened.

THE GREAT New York photographers of the day were Aimee Dupont, Sarony, Underwood and Underwood and Mishkin, the latter official photographer for the Metropolitan Opera Company.

In the summer of 1907 (all right, maybe it was 1906 or 1908), a little, spindly gentleman made the pathetic rounds of these and lesser photographers trying to raise a few dollars to start a processing and film business he had invented after some experimentation.

"All I want is $200 from you," he pleaded with Mishkin. "Just $200. It isn't much to you, it's life to me."

"What for?" asked Mishkin. "I want to set up a little plant for processing film and plates," said the weary little beggar.

"Where?" asked Mishkin. "Right in my home town, Rochester," the man said. "I can do it cheaper there. Less rent."

"No," said Mishkin. "You are mad, Rochester? Too far from New York. You'll lose your shirt and my money. Definitely, no."

So little George Eastman went somewhere else and found $200 and the rest you know. Mishkin, Dupont and all the rest, too terribly soon, could have shot themselves.

THERE IS a taxi driver in New York named Bob Brandeis, who is not too much different from hundreds of other New York hackies. He drives a little, philosophizes a little, studies the stock market tabulations daily and has the courage to face up to facts: if he had put $200 into this, yesterday, he would have back $267 today and with the profit he could move on to bigger things and, who knows, in six months he might have $5,000, which is a lot of money to Bob Brandeis and, even, to Rockefeller.

They are like that and they also have their little vanities and crochets and woes. There are taxi drivers who specialize in misery and others who specialize in knowing the quickest, fastest route to any given point.

SOME THINK that if they weren't so tired at night, they could be Hemingways and a few have tried it. Some are amateur doctors prescribing cold cures, sinus cures and similar medications to afflicted passengers. And some have enormous pride.

Brandeis has pride. Recently, he drove a woman novelist of vast renown and slick talents from the 42nd Street railway terminal to a point on the distant West Side and did it so swiftly and easily that when they got there she said: "You are the best taxi driver I ever had."

"Madam," said Bob, "I like you, am a pro. Let us not ever believe otherwise, or we are lost."

I MAY LIVE a long time and I hope I do because I have found life mainly to be a ball, but there is one thing I shall never understand if I live to be 110 and that is the human passion for African violets.

There is a veritable cult of African "violetists" in this country and, if you don't think so, consider this: there is a new, and not too inexpensive book out — a whole book — dedicated to the cause of the African violet.

But the cultists are human beings and wasn't it Galsworthy who once said: "A human being is the best plot there is?" I think he did, but of course that was before Walt Disney began doing plots with old hound dogs, small, enchanting mice and virulently indignant ducks.

Quick, without looking at the dictionary: is it pronounced extremeists or EXTremists? There is no prize for the winner of this contest.

New Recipe For Bean Soup

WASHINGTON — The local soothsayers all are rushing into print these days with predictions of what 1958 will bring. They're trying to make this sound important, but they can't fool me.

There's nothing going on in the capital momentarily and the solemn columnists have nothing else to write. Come to think of it, neither do I. Let's look ahead.

The Senate bean soup will be made with a formula different from that of the House bean soup, and some lawmakers soon after Congress opens will make speeches on this subject. Last year not a single Congressman took a poke at another. This was phenomenal.

IN 1952 I expect there'll be some fisticuffs on Capitol Hill, unless, of course, the law of averages is repealed.

The Senate will open its second subway line to its new building of luxe: the members of the House will continue to walk—and grouse. They keep talking about putting in a moving sidewalk for themselves, but I trust this year the costs of such luxury will continue to awe them.

Some of our lawmakers still are talking about cutting taxes; my guess is we'll be lucky if they don't boost them along about the time they raise the lid on the national debt. Investigations will pop out all over.

SENATOR Estes Kefauver and Company will haul in the motor-car makers from Detroit to explain how a so-called low-priced car can cost $3,000. The Senators remember when they could buy Cadillacs for less.

They're also unhappy about automobile tires and the way de luxe shoes for sedans frequently are cheaper than ordinary jobs. Their idea is that the tire men should start advertising their wares in plain English.

REP. HEBERT still is sore over the fact that sailors won't wear the same kind of shoes as soldiers, while airmen must have a third variety of footwear.

He insists this goes throughout most of the things the military buys and that the duplicating and confusion is costing us at least one billion dollars a year. So he'll investigate some more and probably establish in his sanctum another chamber of horrors, showing all the fancy labels for plain bolts and nuts.

Hebert also is upset about the way the Defense Department keeps working on producing its unified catalogue for military supplies. This labor has been of the world to afford some of the good things Americans already enjoy.

It is too bad that Khrushchev was probably talking simply to hear himself talk. Were he serious, the whole world could rejoice.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — America today is flooded with angels—New Year angels.

One of the major differences between children and grownups is this: Children try to behave like angels just before Christmas—grownups don't don their halos and wings until January 1st.

The adults, after the first fever of seasonal reform abates, will go back to being normally abnormal, too.

The idea of a national Do Right and Live Better Club is praiseworthy in principle. It might even make for a better world if it started small and grew gradually.

But it doesn't happen that way. Everybody—or nearly everybody—signs a membership card the same day. And when 100 million adult Americans try to rise above their human nature and become angels all at once you don't have progress.

BY NIGHTFALL of New Year's Day, many individuals have abandoned their good resolutions. Every day after that there are more desertions from the banner of the impossibly perfect life.

But what if everybody resolved at the same time to go on the water wagon, save his money, buy nothing except for cash, and then only what he actually really needed?

The American economy would crash in three months, and by 1959 we'd all have to take in each other's washing to earn a living.

What if every office Milquetoast in the land decided at the same time to be firm and decisive? There'd be so many wrong decisions made no business could endure.

What if everyone in America decided on the same day never to say another unkind word to anybody, no matter what the provocation? With nobody having any hurt feelings none of us would have any reason for self-pity.

In three weeks we'd all run shrieking into the woods out of sheer boredom.

WHAT IF EVERY husband pledged himself to bring fresh flowers home to his wife once a week in 1958? In 10 weeks, half the wives from Manhattan to Los Angeles would be bed-ridden with acute cases of suspicion.

The other half would be sitting in the anterooms of detective agencies, waiting to hire a private eye to check up on the family breadwinner.

What if every wife should simultaneously—? Well, never mind that worry. The imagination cannot conceive a situation in which all women behaved the same way at the same time.

The greatest safeguard of civilization is that all of its members never do the same thing at the same time—even during our present purity binge.

The best thing to do if you have a friend in the grip of an impossible self-improvement crusade is to send him a get-well card, and wait for nature to take its course. When it's all over, everybody will feel better.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — A messenger from the Department of Justice loped in today with a red hot "hold for release" and proffered it with the air of one conferring a boon. I grabbed it with unavailing and read:

"Assistant Attorney General Dallas S. Townsend, Director, Office of Alien Property, reported today that his office realized in excess of $33,000,000 during 1957 from income and proceeds of liquidation of enemy assets seized during World War II under the Trading With the Enemy Act."

Well, this struck a chord of memory. I rummaged through a pile of old press releases, which we keep on file in case we ever want to set fire to the building, and discovered that exactly a year ago to the day the Department of Justice had issued this red hot "hold for release."

"Assistant Attorney General Dallas S. Townsend, Director, Office of Alien Property, reported today that his office had realized approximately $32,000,000 during 1956 from income and liquidation of enemy assets seized during World War II under the Trading With the Enemy Act."

Carping critics who would suggest that Assistant Attorney General Townsend repeated himself are advised to read more punctiliously. He changed the year and the amount of money.

AN AMBITIOUS young woman, of what might be termed humble origins, became betrothed here to a wealthy resident of Las Vegas, Nevada. He lavished expensive gifts upon his prospective bride, but apparently advanced no cash.

The lady revisited us recently and regaled a distinguished group with her new-found wealth and position. She reduced the gathering to near-strangulation by adding matter-of-factly:

"I arrived in Las Vegas for the first time near the end of October. It was cool everywhere else, and I expected it to be cool there, but it was blazing hot."

"I had on a mink coat, a sable scarf, a fox stole, and an ermine tippet, and I nearly died of the heat as I got off the bus."

THE OTHER DAY I quoted 85-year-old Prof. Emeritus Morton C. Stewart, of Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., as denouncing "Jingle Bells" as a "Hell of a Christmas song" because of the second verse which was about a decrepit old horse that got stuck in a snowbank, upsetting the sleighers. I have been deluged with letters since, declaring that Prof. Stewart recited the verse incorrectly.

The most typical is from Mrs. Mona Gaillard, of Pierce Mill Rd., here, who says her researches show the second verse should go:

"A day or two ago I thought I'd take a ride
And soon Miss Fannie Bright was seated by my side."

"The horse was lean and lank,
Misfortune was his lot,
He got into a drifted bank,
And then we got up-sot."

Mrs. Gaillard says that the third verse winds up:

"Just get a bob-tailed bay
Two-forty for his speed,
Then hitch him to an open sleigh
And crack! You'll take the lead."

The professor-refuting lady says that "two-forty" means the horse made a mile in 2 minutes, 40 seconds, which she claims is fast for a horse.

The ones I bet on must go slower.

City Mailing Delinquent Tax Notices

The City Tax Office is mailing delinquent tax notices for 1957 next Tuesday.

George E. Davis, city collector, said about 100 notices are being prepared for mailing. All call for a 50-cent service charge to cover the cost of preparing and mailing the notices.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long has called attention to the fact that people may make partial payments toward the taxes before January 8 to avoid the additional charge.

If a partial payment is made, interest applies only to the unpaid balance.

Current tax bills may be paid at two per cent interest until January 23. After that the interest rises to 2 1/2 per cent.

Collections on 1957 taxes have been excellent, as $1,054,539, or 87 1/2 per cent of the $1,207,630 levy was in by November 30.

During December, collections on 1957 taxes totaled $49,191.90, and interest payments added another $309.77.

Slightly over $100,000 of 1957 taxes are still to be collected, but most of the uncollected balance represents corporation taxes which cannot be billed until the State Tax Office forwards assessments.

Drinking water is an increasing problem in the U. S. In Texas in 1957 drinking water was sold in some communities at 50 cents a gallon.

Hearing Set On Blue Cross Rate Boost

BALTIMORE (AP) — Public hearings will be held on a proposed Blue Cross rate increase in Maryland, but the time and place are uncertain.

State Insurance Commissioner Charles S. Jackson, making the announcement yesterday, said the time and place would be announced when studies of the request have been completed and department personnel have familiarized themselves with the case.

Maryland Hospital Service Inc., which operates Blue Cross, announced last Friday it was seeking a rate increase averaging 22 per cent. Blue Cross has more than one million subscribers and 40 participating hospitals in Maryland.

The request cited rising hospital costs for rooms and services. Policy holders would receive no additional benefits.

Persons asking Jackson for a public hearing have included Del. Cannon (D-Wicomico) and Baltimore attorney Hyman Pressman.

Church Will Have Bishop At Services

Bishop J. B. Showers of Dayton, Ohio, will be principal speaker at preaching services for a week beginning Sunday at Second Baptist Church, Oldtown Road and Grand Avenue.

Sponsored by the South Cumberland Ministerial Association, the services will be held at 7:30 p. m. from Sunday through next Friday.

A native of Canada, Bishop Showers began his active ministry as a pastor and then became instructor of New Testament Greek in the United Seminary in Dayton.

He later became associate editor of his denomination's church paper and served as publishing agent of the Otterbein Press in Dayton.

He was elected a bishop in 1944 and served in that capacity until 1954, when he became bishop emeritus. Since then, he has conducted a number of preaching missions in the United States and Canada.

His sermon subject Sunday night will be "God is not optional." On Monday he will discuss "Can atheists experience prayer?"; Tuesday, "The shamelessness of prayer"; Wednesday, "The prayer behind the prayer"; Thursday, "Within the power of prayer"; and Friday, "Pictures of prevailing prayer."

Members of the South Cumberland Ministerial Association will conduct the service each night, and local church choirs will furnish music.

The opening service will be conducted by Dr. E. E. Miller, pastor of First E. U. B. Church, and the choir of Living Stone Church of the Brethren will sing.

Two Men File Candidacies

The Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors yesterday received $25 filing fees from two Republicans who had previously announced they would seek office.

They are A. Charles Stewart, Eleanor Building, Frostburg, and W. A. Strother, 809 Trost Avenue. Stewart seeks re-election as register of wills, a post he has held ever since 1946. Strother, former District 1 tax collector at the Court House, is a GOP candidate for county commissioner.

The first official candidate was James P. Russell of Mt. Savage, who on December 18 filed as a Democratic candidate for county commissioner.

Irvin J. Neal, Republican registrar and chief clerk of the Board of Election Supervisors, reminded prospective candidates that those filing for either the Republican or Democratic State Central Committee or for delegate to the political parties' state conventions must now pay a $10 filing fee for the first time. Other candidates must pay a $25 filing fee as candidates for offices providing compensation for the successful candidates.

Young Duck Hunter Finds Huge Tooth

EUGENE, Ore. (APNS) — A duck hunting trip has turned up a new archaeological find in Oregon.

It is a mammoth tooth discovered by Edith Taylor, an attractive young student nurse at Sacred Heart Hospital in Eugene.

She stubbed her toe while duck hunting along the Willamette river north of Salem and came up with the strange object later identified by Arnold Shottwell, curator of the University of Oregon's museum of natural history.

Authorities Undecided On Appeal Effect

W. Maryland Train From Here To Elkins To Make Last Run

Legal authorities are undecided whether the appeal filed by protestants against abolishment of the Western Maryland Railway's last passenger train will delay execution of the Public Service Commission order tomorrow.

The appeal was filed yesterday afternoon in West Virginia Supreme Court in Charleston.

The Western Maryland's trains Nos. 9 and 10 were scheduled to make their final round-trip run tomorrow.

Protestants Listed
The PSC granted the railway, a principal carrier of coal and other freight, authority to discontinue the round-trip passenger service between Elkins and Cumberland, effective Jan. 6.

Yesterday's petition was filed by Elkins Atty. Bonn Brown. It was presented on behalf of the communities of Elkins, Davis, Thomas and Parsons, as well as the Elkins Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Elkins retail merchants and the General Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen of the Western Maryland System.

Some legal authorities held to the view the petition could have no effect until some formal action is taken by the court.

Court On Vacation
The court is now in vacation and none of the five judges was at the statehouse this weekend. It was explained that even one judge could issue a restraining order to continue operation of the train after tomorrow's effective date, but so far this has not been done.

The railroad requested permission last spring to discontinue the daily passenger service, contending increased costs and decreased revenue made the train unprofitable.

The train is the last segment of the old Baltimore-Elkins passenger run. A coach, operated daily on a freight train between Durbin and Elkins, is the only other passenger run.

W.Md. Layoff Due To Affect Some Locally

The Western Maryland Railway has announced indefinite furlough of 102 men on its system and while there will be some affected on the Western Division, the exact number is not known.

Western Maryland in announcing the layoffs yesterday blamed a business decline. The railway operates in Maryland, West Virginia and southern Pennsylvania.

The railway's maintenance of way unit expects no effect from the furlough order; transportation department officials expect some effect which has not been determined and a "temporary" effect is expected in the mechanical end, according to railway sources.

A railway spokesman in Hagerstown said it is impossible to tell when those furloughed will be recalled. They include trainmen and shopmen, he added.

The B&O Railroad, blaming a decline in freight car loadings, furloughed 2,800 employees system-wide January 1, including 241 on the Cumberland Division. Fifty of the furloughed men were from the Bolt and Forge Shops here and 160 at the Keyser shops. The other 31 were scattered.

The new furlough came on top of another November 1 when 2,500 others were furloughed along the system.

JOHN J. ROWAN

LESLIE L. HENRY

John J. Rowan Retires From Amcelle Plant

John J. Rowan, 604 North Second Street, LaVale, has retired from his position as electrical supervisor at Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation of America, according to W. E. Crooks, plant manager.

Rowan came to the local plant as an electrician in early 1924 while the plant was still under construction and his retirement concludes nearly 34 years of continuous employment with Celanese.

A native of Piedmont, he is married to the former Ruth Cox of Tyrone, Pa. They are the parents of three sons. He is a veteran of World War I, having served with the famed 96th Aero Squadron in France. He is a past exalted ruler of Cumberland Lodge 63, BPOE, and past president of the LaSalle PTA. He is a member of St. Patrick's Church and the Holy Name Society. He also holds membership in the Knights of Columbus, the Engineers' Club of Cumberland, and is a charter member of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association.

Traveling and gardening in addition to serving as chairman of the LaVale Zoning Board are some of the activities Rowan has planned for the immediate future.

Being promoted to the position being vacated by Rowan is Leslie L. Henry of Lonaconing. A graduate of Central High School, he is married to the former Edith Scott of Lonaconing and they are the parents of two daughters.

Henry joined the Celanese organization in 1928 and has been employed continuously in the Electrical Department.

Ice Skating Set For Tonight Here

The Recreation Department said today ice skating is planned at both Gephart School playground and the Constitution Park duck pond tonight.

The areas will be open from 7 to 10 p. m.

The tennis court area at Gephart was flooded yesterday.

The city's two dams are located nine miles north of here in Pennsylvania.

Cold Spell To Continue In District

Mountains Have Six Inches Of Snow; Trace Falls Here

The cold spell will continue for another day or so, the Weather Bureau advised today.

The mountainous regions in the Cumberland area will be a week-end delight for skiers, as Garrett County has an accumulation of six inches of snow after receiving an additional one and a half inches last night.

This morning it snowed continuously at Thomas and Davis, another ski resort, and at noon six inches was on the ground.

Continued Cold
The Weather Bureau calls for it to be continued cold in Allegany and Garrett counties, with the temperature dropping to between five and 15 degrees. There will be some snow flurries to night and tomorrow.

Lows down to six degrees were reported in this section early today. The lowest point reported was the six-degrees at town Hill. Frostburg had 11 degrees, Big Savage, nine; Oakland and Accident, 12; Thomas, 16; Deal, 14; and Cumberland 17 degrees.

Most Roads Covered
The district office of the State Roads Commission reported the main highways are only 10 per cent clear, and side roads are covered in the area west of Frostburg.

While Garrett County received additional snow, so did the Frostburg section when two more inches fell to bring an accumulation of four inches.

Chains are not recommended for driving in the area west of Frostburg if caution was used.

Only a trace of snow fell east of Frostburg.

KNOWS HIS ONIONS — Charles F. Heller, 510 Cumberland Street, displays the variety of onions used in predicting whether the year ahead will be wet or dry. Heller says 1958 will have only four dry months, June, July, September and December. One, February, will be moist and the remainder wet with April the wettest of all. Both "female and male" onions sprinkled with salt are used to determine "Heller's Salt-Manac" which has proved uncannily accurate over the years. "Weeping" of the onions decides the forecast.

New Board's Nominations Under Attack

Bertorelli, Fine Hit Compensation Group Choices By Bar Unit

Some nominations and the method of nominating members for the new Workmen's Compensation Commission have come under attack by two sources.

Sen. Bertorelli (D-Balti-1st) has called "definitely political" the Maryland State Bar Association's recommendations; and Melvin L. Fine, Baltimore attorney and chairman of the old Industrial Accident Commission, said the method being used to nominate the new board is "highly improper and unlikely to give best results."

The State Bar Association has submitted 15 names, only one a member of the old board, to Gov. McKeldin who will appoint a five-man commission to replace the old group. In addition, another list of 14 nominations, including all five members of the present commission, has been submitted by the Maryland State Plaintiff's Bar Association.

Fletcher On Both Lists
On both lists is Paul M. Fletcher, states attorney for Allegany County, and J. Howard Holzer of Baltimore, a former member of the Industrial Accident Commission.

Bertorelli, a foe of legislation which created the new commission, charges the Maryland State Bar Association "avoided once again the democratic processes" in preparing its list and "They followed the same political pressures they have in the past."

In referring to the state bar's including only one of the five present members of the board in its nominations, Bertorelli said "It's very evident these people did not qualify politically in some people's eyes" and asked "is their experience something to overlook?"

Fine, also referring to the state bar's list, said "A great majority of the committee that picked the list have never been before the commission, have not observed its work and can hardly judge the qualifications of its members."

"Similarly, a majority of the 15 have had no contact whatsoever with the commission," Fine added.

Onion Weather Expert Claims Another Victory

Charles F. Heller, 510 Cumberland Street, claimed another victory in 1957 for his "Salt-Onion Manac" and predicted this year will have only four "dry" months.

For the most part, Heller says the year will be moist to wet. He predicts, through a special onion process, that the months of January, March, April, May, August, October and November will be wet. February will be moist. The wettest month will be April with November second.

Dry months will be June, July, September and December.

Heller, maintenance superintendent at Municipal Airport and a former city commissioner, says if his predictions hold up it will be a good "growing year."

He estimated his predictions for last year as "about 90 per cent correct."

Great Believer In Onions
Heller is a great believer in onions. He says: "They are very helpful. I have been told many times that Bismarck, the man who made Germany a great empire, was so fond of onions (fried) that he ate them at every meal."

Heller's Salt-Manac was established many, many years ago, in fact before Cumberland had a railroad and was only a small village.

The onions used in Heller's forecast for this year were grown by Joseph H. Wilson of Mill Road, just off Bedford Road at Frantz town.

In his predicting process, the action of salt on onions forms the basis. Required are one male and two female onions which are separated into equal portions and sprinkled with salt. The onion slices used this year were salted Tuesday at 11:50 p. m. and allowed to stand until 7 a. m. New Year's Day when Heller based his forecast on the amount of "weeping" done.

In his annual message accompanying his forecast, Heller dealt mostly with the farmer and his problems.

He said the government hopes to induce more farmers to retire land this year and has set a goal of 30 million acres.

"It may seem fanciful just now but it could be that one day soon the government, instead of paying farmers not to grow crops, will be offering cash incentives to grow enough grub to keep us — then we will have come the full circle — at taxpayers' expense."

Poor Crop Year In 1957
To the farmers, especially in this section, 1957 was a poor year for crops because of several months of drought, he stated.

Wilson, Wilkinson Tangle On Mileage

Heated Dispute Ensues At Board Meeting Over Assessors' Bills

During debate at the meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners today a heated flareup flashed between Commissioners William A. Wilson and Charles N. Wilkinson.

A discussion was being held concerning Wilkinson's protest over mileage payments to the Assessing Department's assessors at last Tuesday's session. The assessors were present at the meeting today along with Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments.

Wilson said he had checked into objections by Wilkinson concerning the mileage payments and the lack of speedometer readings of each assessor's car. He also said he checked into the particular objection to the mileage payment to William H. Lemmert, assistant supervisor of assessments, on the basis that Lemmert had not been out of the office during December.

Notes Allowance
Wilson said that the county can either pay the expenses of the cars owned privately by the assessors or else furnish county cars. Originally, Wilson said, the county decided to pay car expenses up to $50 per month at the rate of six cents per mile.

In 1953 this was changed to eight cents per mile not to exceed $75 per month in lieu of salary adjustment to assessors at request of Nicholson. Wilson said he found procedure followed in Allegany County was same as that in rest of state. He also said that a check of vouchers back to 1954 (oldest available) showed that speedometer readings were not recorded.

Wilson said that he found no objections made to any of the mileage payments since 1954 and that Lemmert traveled as much as the other assessors in December.

To Continue System
The board voted 2 to 1 to continue on the same basis for mileage payment to the assessors as in the past. Wilkinson's motion that two cars be provided was lost for a want of a second.

Nicholson said that the department could not operate with only two cars as there are five field assessors including himself. He also said the State Tax Commission would not allow the county to use only two cars.

Wilson commented that it would be much cheaper for the county to pay the mileage on the present basis than to purchase cars for each assessor's use. The men are paid approximately $900 annually now for mileage and Wilson said it would cost about $1,500 if the county provided cars.

Wilson said in reply to Nicholson's statement regarding the State Tax Commission that the "state tax agency is practically running the county."

Objects To Two Cars
Wilson objected to Wilkinson's plan for only two cars. He also said that the county furnishing cars for five men with the cost of tires, gas, etc. "didn't make sense" in view of the cheaper cost by the present method.

W. Edward Eichner, senior assessor, agreed with Nicholson that two cars would not be enough to handle the assessing work in the county.

Wilson said at one point told Nicholson that "within a year Lemmert would have your job."

Nicholson retorted that the way things were going it wouldn't be too bad at that.

Then Wilson and Wilkinson engaged in their heated argument. Wilkinson said he traveled over the county and never put in for any mileage. Wilson said he too put in mileage attending meetings and visiting county areas and without mileage payments.

Wilson then told Wilkinson that since he has been on the board he has attended more assessment hearings than Wilkinson has since his term began. Wilkinson replied that he never accepted any payment for the assessment meetings and didn't intend to attend any. Wilson said it's your duty to attend the meetings.

Dog Wardens Busy During Past Month

Hast Picked Up 279 Strays; 27 Canines "adopted"

The two dog wardens made reports to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners today concerning their work during December.

Several matters were cleared up with the board deciding that kennel clubs can not take out a kennel license which would blanket the dogs of the entire membership. It had been reported that one group had taken out a kennel license and then had photostatic copies of the license and then issued to their membership. This is illegal, according to Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board.

Sheep Killer Caught
Merwin Hast, one of the wardens, reported on the capture of three dogs which killed several sheep and injured others a few days ago near Mt. Savage. Dogs are not allowed to pursue, attack or kill livestock or poultry and the owners of the animals are liable for damages in such cases. The dogs can be killed by the wardens or property owners where such depredations are underway.

Hast reported he picked up 279 stray dogs without licenses during December and that 248 of them were destroyed. There were 27 dogs adopted by persons who paid for their board and three other dogs were reclaimed by the owners.

The commissioners also agreed to pay for a private telephone line for Hast after he explained that he is now on a party line and receives about 25 calls daily concerning dogs. Other persons on the line have complained about the line being tied up, Hast explained.

Reports Difficultly
Burza Hanlin, warden for the area from Westernport to Frostburg, reported that he sold 109 licenses and picked up 12 dogs during the month. Eleven of these were destroyed. He also investigated a complaint concerning a pony in the Butcher Run section of Georges Creek which was not being fed by the owner.

Hanlin said he also has been having difficulty in certain sections with dog owners failing to answer the door when he calls about having their animals licensed.

The dog licenses can be purchased at all trial magistrates' offices, from the dog wardens and also at the office of the county commissioners at the Court House. A total of 2,500 licenses have been sold and an additional 5,000 tags have been ordered.

Tavern Owner Fails To Identify Robber Suspect

State Police today said a man who was arrested in Pennsylvania on charges of bank robbery was not identified as one of two gunmen who shot and wounded a Gorman tavern owner December 9 in a holdup attempt.

Pennsylvania State Police had been requested to send a photograph of Robert C. Rose of Parker, Pa., who had been arrested last Thursday on charges of robbing a bank near Kittanning, Pa., and a bullet fired from a .22 caliber pistol found in Rose's possession.

Elmer Grubb, Gorman tavern owner who was wounded in the holdup attempt, failed to identify Rose as one of the men involved in the attempted robbery of his business place and State Police said it was doubtful that ballistics tests would match the bullet from Rose's gun with one that had been fired at Grubb. The matching tests, however, have not been completed at the Pikesville State Police ballistics laboratory.

McKeldin Denies Report He'll Switch With Beall

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — While some central committeemen from all Democrats are desperately trying to avoid a fight in the Maryland primary for governor, Republican party leaders say they will decide by the end of this month their choice for the nomination.

Gov. McKeldin, ineligible for a third straight term, says a group of GOP strategists will get together, probably in Baltimore, within the next three or four weeks.

Their big problem will be, party observers say, how to come up with a strong candidate for governor without weakening the party's chances of retaining its hold on three of the seven Maryland seats in the U. S. House of Representatives.

McKeldin said the meeting will be "more intimate" than a session held last fall at Government House, the gubernatorial mansion. That session included Republican

Builders Unit Fights NLRB Strike Ruling

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A group of Maryland builders has gone to court to fight a National Labor Relations Board ruling involving a strike against a subcontractor.

The Associated Builders and Contractors of Maryland Inc. have charged that five unions and the Baltimore Building and Construction Trades Council (AFL-CIO) struck a firm because it refused to stop doing business with open shop contractors.

The NLRB held that the union council was not responsible for activities against Selby-Battersby & Co., a unionized tile subcontractor.

The builders yesterday filed a petition in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals asking that the NLRB ruling be set aside and the case sent back to the board.

The association is composed of about 500 union and non-union contractors.

ment on Wilkinson's remarks concerning his mileage payments. Lemmert inquired how Wilkinson could know whether he was out of the building when he (Wilkinson) had attended only six meetings the county board held during December.

Lemmert outlined how the procedure for paying the assessors was arrived at and how in 1954 the board decided to pay the assessors on a flat rental fee for their cars and never once did Wilkinson object.

"The only time Wilkinson opposed mileage for assessors comes when I became assistant supervisor of assessments on December 2. To the best of my knowledge the only other persons he has objected to are the roads supervisor (J. Walker Chapman) and the county doctor (Dr. James McLean)."

J. R. Bruce Announces For Senate

Affirms Abiding Faith In Voters; Sure Of Victory

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—James R. Bruce, former U. S. ambassador to Argentina, formally filed today for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate.

In posting the $290 filing fee with the secretary of state's office, Bruce said he has "an abiding faith in the intelligence of the voters" and is confident he will win not only the May 20 primary but the general election next fall.

The 64-year-old Bruce, a leader in the state and national party councils for the past 20 years, said he planned to open campaign headquarters and complete details of his campaign organization "within the next few days."

"Primary day, May 20, is merely the immediate objective in a plan which I believe will result in my election as the first Democratic United States Senator from Maryland in a long time," Bruce said.

"I have no alliances except a deep and devoted one with my country, my state and the Democratic party. I do have, however, an abiding faith in the intelligence of the voters."

"There is a crying need for qualified men in government today, not dollar a year men who may come and go without any sense of responsibility to a voting constituency and not perennial office-seekers who are a dollar a dozen, but a need for men who are eminently qualified by virtue of experience in the multiple aspects of government," Bruce added.

He said the country needs men in federal government "who have proven themselves in the realities of the world we live in and who have the capacity to act upon the problems of the new kind of world which we now face."

"I have never before sought elective office but I have long been and will always be a staunch supporter and worker in the Democratic party," Bruce said. "I am not a neophyte in politics and realize fully the strange and unexpected directions which a primary can take."

"Personally, I abhor dealing in personalities because no public good has ever come of such tactics. When the individual becomes foremost and the office and issues secondary, then the philosophy and sense of our democratic elective system is meaningless and a failure."

"These are particularly serious and alarming times and require equally serious and sound thinking," Bruce added. "I firmly believe I am the best qualified person in Maryland to render the necessary sound thought and action which should typify the proper legislative processes of the United States Senate."

Bruce announced last September that he would seek nomination to the Senate seat now held by Republican J. Glenn Beall, who is expected to seek reelection.

Bruce is a member of a Maryland family which has supplied leaders in political and civic affairs for generations.

His late father, William Cabell Bruce, was a U. S. Senator. His brother, David K. E. Bruce, is the present U. S. ambassador to Germany and Bruce himself was ambassador at Argentina from 1947 to 1949.

He is director of a dozen or more national corporations and lives near Reisterstown.

The new commission to be appointed by the governor subject to Senate confirmation will hear contested cases arising from a workmen's compensation law. This is the same function as the old board but sponsors of the change said it was needed to set up a fulltime commission. The new chairman will get $14,500 a year and board members $14,000—more than double the salary of members of the old board.

The law requires members of the commission be attorneys but the governor is not bound by recommendations of the bar groups.

Miss Bertha S. Adkins, women's vice chairman of the party national committee, is tabbed as a good bet for the First District nomination if Miller gets into the State-wide race.

Both Miller and Devereux recently returned from overseas inspection trips. At last reports, both were willing to abide by the decision reached by fellow party leaders, with neither eager to buck the other in a primary contest.

Choral Society Resumes Rehearsals

With resumption of rehearsals on Monday at 8 p. m. in City Hall Auditorium, the Cumberland Choral Society will begin work on Hayden's "The Creation."

Those wishing to join the organization may attend this meeting, according to Charles Sager, director.

Searchers Find Woman Lost In Cold Five Days

MORGANTOWN (AP)—A 53-year-old woman who apparently had wandered aimlessly in freezing weather for five days in a mountainous and wooded area near her home was in serious condition today in a hospital here.

Sheriff's deputies said that a seven-man searching party from the Blacksville Fire Department found Miss Winnie Foley, 53, about 4:30 p. m. yesterday approximately 1 1/2 miles from her Kings Run home.

Information was somewhat scanty, but deputies were told that she had been missing since last Thursday. Her home is in a remote area near the Monongalia-Marion county line.

First reports from the hospital indicated that the woman's feet and hands were frozen. Although she could be questioned but little, attendants said she told of going to a hill she knew to be near her home each night.

The Blacksville firemen were called into the search about 1:30 p. m. yesterday. Deputies said that an unidentified man reported Wednesday that he caught a glimpse of the woman in the section where she was found.

Two brothers and some neighbors pressed the search Wednesday and Wednesday night without success. The ground has been blanketed with snow and the temperature has approached zero in recent days.

One of the easiest ways to have a perfect record broken is to lose one of your star players. Proof of that comes forth when looking at last night's final score of the Oklahoma State-Kansas game as the Jayhawks fell for the first time when their star, Wilt Chamberlain, was forced to the sidelines because of a groin injury.

With the towering Chamberlain missing his first game this season, the Jayhawks also had their initial taste of defeat, losing out in overtime, 52-50, to the Sooner State quint. Perhaps that was quite natural to expect, many experts stating that the Jayhawks could be taken with Wilt out of the way. He is the leading scorer in the nation with a 32.2 output and his rebounding value cannot be questioned.

Ridgeley, W. Va., is a long way from Lawrence, Kansas, but there may be a similarity in the story that was written last night more than a 1,000 miles away and the one to unfold later tonight from the little West Virginia town. It may very well be the same—that is for LaSalle High's undefeated Explorers who will be without one of their big guns tonight when they go up against the Black Hawks.

Center Dick Winfield, who has been a rebounding and scoring star for the Explorers, will also have to sit this one out. The pivot ace has a torn ligament in his ankle which he suffered in a scrimmage yesterday as the charges of coach George Geatz were putting in their last touches for the clash against their "Greater-Cumberland" rival.

It is the first game that Winfield, a six-three board-wiper, has had to miss as he has been a big gun in helping LaSalle roll over eight opponents this year without losing. His value to the team has been tremendous and he has shown improvement in every start.

Despite the injury, coach Geatz and LaSalle athletic director Brother Thomas, did have a high sign of relief after the X-rays of Winfield were taken this morning. Both had been keeping their fingers crossed in hopes that the injury was not serious—but both for Winfield's sake and that of the team. And, fortunately, it wasn't.

There was even a slight possibility of the big center getting to play tonight, but, wisely, both Geatz and Brother Thomas decided that Winfield would be held out rather than to risk the possibility of a further injury or aggravation of the ankle. By being able to nurse the ailment over the next four days, Dick should be ready for the game next Tuesday against the Bedford Bisons.

With the injury causing coach Geatz to make a shift in his lineup, it also affords reserve Charley Howell a chance to show his wares in a starting role. Howell, who matches Winfield at six-three, has seen duty in all eight of the North Centre Streeters' victories and will have a big chance tonight. If he can justify the confidence coach Geatz has in him by handing him the job, LaSalle should be able to rack up its ninth victory.

It's a large order, but as stated near the beginning, the story written tonight is similar to the one in Lawrence, Kansas, before the contest but, may have a very different ending. It could very well depend upon a player who wasn't there and the one who was.

Sports Spatterings

Navy's Middies, with no conference tie-up, fared better financially than any other school competing in the post-season football bowl games. . . . With final figures for all the bowl battles far from complete, a check showed today that the Tars took home approximately $160,000 after deducting $20,000 in the Cotton Bowl. . . . The money, minus expenses, will be applied to the new three-million dollar stadium being constructed at Annapolis. . . . The other schools in the four major bowls split their share of the gate and television and radio receipts with members of their conferences. . . . The Baltimore Colts, who missed the Western Division title of the National Football League by a scant three minutes or so in losing four close games on last-minute rallies, established 15 team records during the 1952 season. . . . The Dobbins' record of seven wins and five defeats, good enough for third place in the division, was the best ever put up by a Baltimore Colts team. . . . The Colts won four successive games, tied with Fort Ashby, and on the road. . . . Their total for 12 games reached 554.801. The home gate was 279,888, an Elk Garden (1-2) in league competition of 46,648 per appearance. . . . Among the marks tied at Mathias is an oddity. . . . In 1956 the Colts piled up 4,123 yards rushing.

Winfield Out For LaSalle; Red Raiders Battle Valley

Fifteen games are on tap tonight as area schoolboy basketball opens 1953 action with a full slate. But, strangely enough, all of the city's school gyms will be dark, LaSalle, Fort Hill and Allegany all scheduled to play away.

LaSalle, however, puts its undefeated record on the line just a mile away from the friendly confines of St. Peter and Paul gym, the Explorers' home court, George Geatz paddling his team across the Potomac to engage the Ridgeley Blackhaws.

Winfield Injures Ankle
The towering and talented Explorers had a crimp put in their ambitions yesterday when center Dick Winfield suffered an ankle injury during a scrimmage on the St. Peter and Paul court.

The rangy pivot star, second-leading scorer on the team and the top rebounder, had X-rays taken this morning at Sacred Heart Hospital and it was found that he suffered a torn ligament.

He will definitely not play tonight but with the rest over the weekend is expected to be ready for the game next Tuesday against a strong Bedford club on the Bisons' boards.

Charley Howell has been picked by coach Geatz to fill in for the injured Winfield. Howell has scored 53 points while seeing reserve duty in all of LaSalle's eight games. He is six-three, the same height as Winfield.

Fort Hill and Allegany will be on foreign boards, helping to launch the Western Maryland Interscholastic League's 38th season. The Sentinels meet defending co-champion Valley at Lonaconing and Allegany goes against the Indians at Mt. Savage. Last year Alco shared the title with Valley.

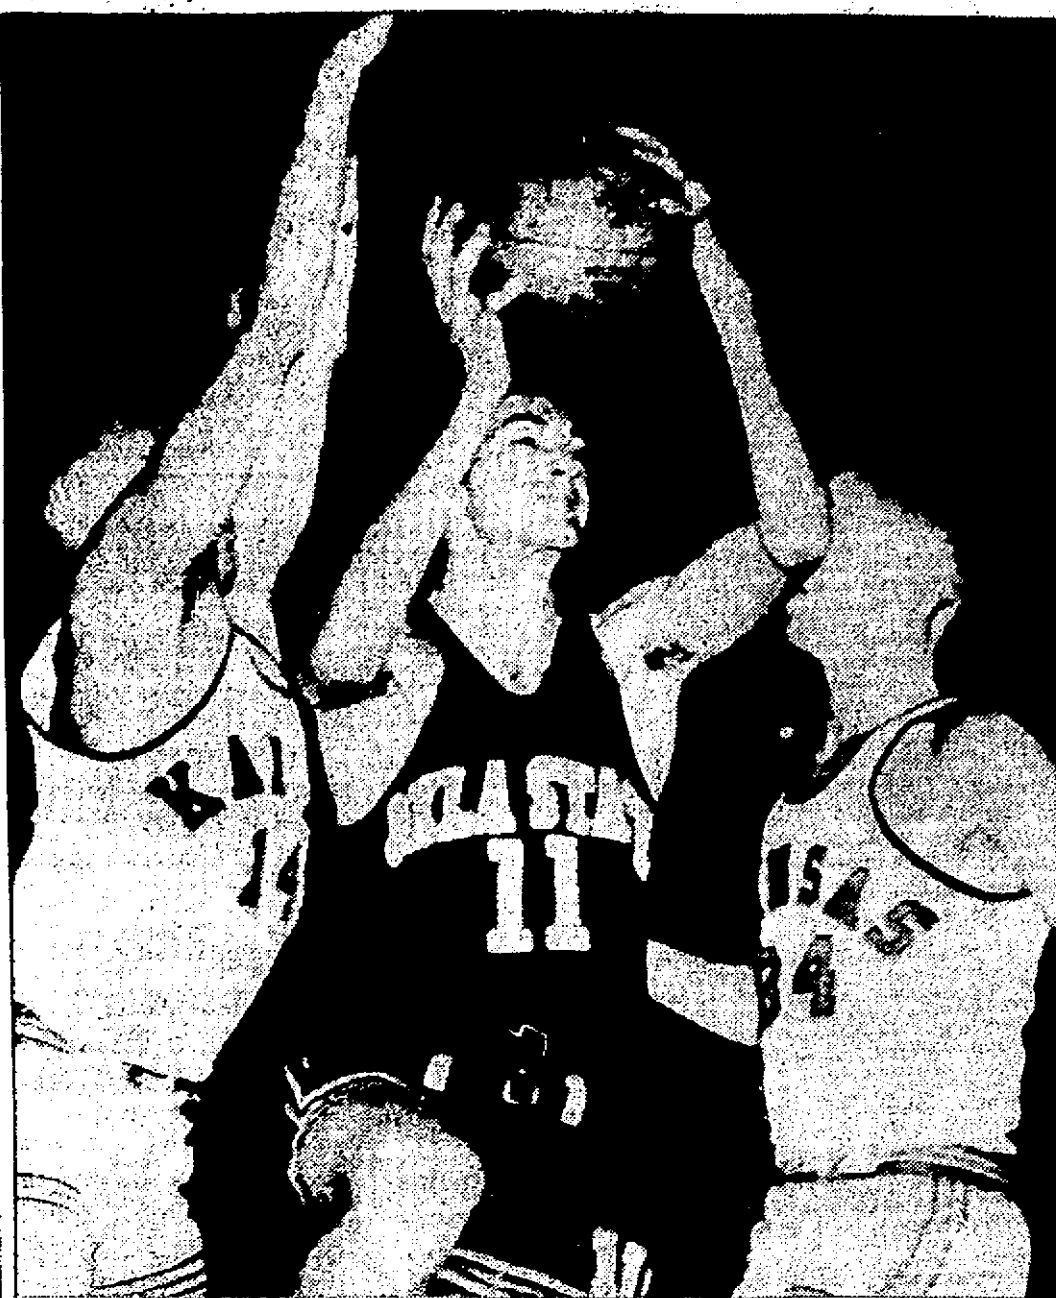

Sentinels On Win Streak

Fort Hill will take a 4-1 record to Coney, the Sentinels having lost their opener at Frederick, then finishing on top in the next four engagements. Valley is 5-0 for the season to date, winning three and losing three. Allegany has won one and lost three and Mt. Savage has a 1-4 mark.

In the league's other game tonight, Beall goes to Westernport to meet the Bruce Bulldogs on their new floor. The Frostburg Mountaineers (0-5) will be shooting for their first victory of the season. Bruce has won two and lost three.

Last year Valley and Allegany showed 8-2 records, but for the first time in league's history there was no playoff to break the tie. LaSalle, one of the few schools in the area not affiliated with a conference, is undefeated in eight games and even with Winfield out will be slightly favored to make the Blackhawk quint their ninth victim. Tom O'Connor's Ridgeley team has won five of seven starts but shows only a 2-2 record in Potomac Valley conference play.

Five PVC Frays Listed
Incidentally, five games are listed for tonight in the PVC, the Dobbins' record of seven wins and five defeats, good enough for third place in the division, was the best ever put up by a Baltimore Colts team. . . . The Colts won four successive games, tied with Fort Ashby, and on the road. . . . Their total for 12 games reached 554.801. The home gate was 279,888, an Elk Garden (1-2) in league competition of 46,648 per appearance. . . . Among the marks tied at Mathias is an oddity. . . . In 1956 the Colts piled up 4,123 yards rushing.

Tigers Adopt Tough Policy On Salaries

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers are adopting a tough, two-fisted policy on player salaries and some of the higher-priced talent can expect cuts in 1958.

General Manager John McHale says the Tigers in the past have been "extremely generous to mediocre ballplayers."

"I'd call it a realistic policy," McHale told newsmen yesterday. "We're going to take a long, hard look at performances. Players who do good jobs will be rewarded. Players who don't do as well as expected can expect adjustments."

It is likely that shortstop Harvey Kuenn and infielder Ray Boone, two of the club's three top-salaried players, will have to accept pay cuts. Contracts will be in the mail by the first of the week.

Outfielder Al Kaline, like Boone and Kuenn in the $30,000 bracket, will talk contract with McHale in the next few days.

Over the years the Tigers have had one of baseball's highest payrolls although they have not won a pennant since 1945 and have finished higher than fourth only once in the last decade.

Pettit Returns But Hawks Lose

By The Associated Press
Some St. Louis Hawks fans see a ray of sunshine through the gloom of a 95-93 loss to the Philadelphia Warriors last night in the nightcap of a National Basketball Assn. doubleheader.

The New York Knicks walloped the Syracuse Nats in the opener 131-98 in the only other NBA action.

'Stilt-less' Kansas Loses First, 52-50

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

Take Wilt Chamberlain out of the lineup and Kansas can be beaten—although not easily. That's what some folks have been saying all along and Oklahoma State proved them right last night, knocking the second-ranked Jayhawks from the ranks of basketball's unbeaten with a 52-50 overtime decision.

Out With Groin Injury
Chamberlain, the nation's leading scorer with a 32.2-point average, was sidelined by a groin injury. He is expected to be ready for Kansas' Big Eight opener next Tuesday against Oklahoma.

Two-ranked West Virginia got a measure of revenge in whipping Canisius 86-66 for its ninth straight. Canisius was the last team to defeat West Virginia. That was in the regional final of NCAA play last spring in Madison Square Garden.

The books were closed on the major holiday tournaments as The Citadel defeated Spring Hill 67-55 in the final of the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., and Harvard employed a zone defense to good advantage for a 55-49 defeat of defending titlist Amherst in the championship game of the University of New Hampshire Invitational.

Title Game Tonight

The four-team NAIA Midwest Tipoff Tournament got under way at Macomb, Ill. Tennessee State routed Hamline 106-57, and Western Illinois turned back William Jewell 72-58. Tennessee State, 1957 NAIA champion, and Western Illinois meet for the title tonight.

In posting its seventh straight victory since an opening loss to Kansas, Oklahoma State took a 28-23 halftime lead and never trailed except briefly at the start of the overtime when Monte Johnson's free throw gave the Jayhawks a 50-49 edge. Roy Carberry soon put the Cowboys back in front with a field goal and then added a free throw.

A string of 16 straight points within a minute and 38 seconds midway through the second half broke the West Virginia-Canisius game wide open. At the time the Mountaineers spurred, the Griff-

Canisius Boss Rates Kansas, WVU Tossup

MORGANTOWN (AP)—How does West Virginia's unbeaten basketball powerhouse compare with once-defeated Kansas and the fabulous Wilt Chamberlain? Coach Joe Curran of Canisius summed it up this way:

"Kansas has a better one-two punch (in the 7-foot Chamberlain and Ron Loneski), West Virginia has better balance and makes fewer mistakes. West Virginia is much faster, with much better ball handlers and better guards."

Canisius' mentor was speaking after the explosive West Virginia crew had trampled his Griffins, 86-66, last night. Canisius also lost to Kansas by 20 points, 66-46, at Lawrence in the Griffins' opener.

While West Virginia was winning last night and enhancing its No. 1 ranking in the Associated Press poll with its ninth straight triumph, Kansas was losing its first game to Oklahoma State, 52-50, in an overtime—and with Chamberlain out of action with an infected groin.

Curran said West Virginia was the best balanced team Canisius has faced this year, with the best fast break—and one of the most explosive teams, he ever has watched.

He said he definitely felt that the Mountaineers would have a good chance to beat Kansas, provided they could "run them (the Jayhawks) into the ground and hold Chamberlain within reason."

Jim Brown Gets Two Top Awards

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(INS)—For a fellow whose best sport is supposed to be lacrosse, Jimmy Brown is doing pretty well in football.

The pile-driving fullback of the Cleveland Browns was named last night as the official "Rookie of the Year" and "Player of the Year" of the National Football League.

The NFL announcement coincided with a civic testimonial dinner for Brown at the Hotel Syracuse.

The 21-year-old former Syracuse University star from Manassas, N. Y., had a tremendous rookie season, leading the league in rushing with 942 yards as he carried Cleveland to the Eastern Conference championship.

The "rookie" and the "player" awards are the first to receive official league approval since 1946. Both awards will be presented to Brown at an official ceremony in Los Angeles Jan. 9.

Balance Holds WVU Atop Unbeaten List

By The Associated Press
The remarkable scoring balance of West Virginia University's top-ranked and unbeaten basketball forces stood out anew today in the wake of the Mountaineers' 86-66 conquest of Canisius.

The WVU triumph, built on a 50.8-per cent shooting performance from the floor, was forced to share the spotlight, however, with speedy Marshall's 113-86 conquest of traditional rival Morris Harvey in Charleston.

An unsuccessful attempt to miss a late free throw figured in West Virginia Tech's 92-91 loss at Youngstown last night in the third and final game of a slim card for state collegiate teams. No games are scheduled tonight.

West Virginia put together a rugged, pressing, man-for-man defense and an offense that uncorked almost unbelievable scoring bursts to beat down the Griffins, last team to defeat the Mountaineers.

It was West Virginia's ninth straight triumph this season and averaged the 64-58 loss to Canisius in last year's NCAA regional tournament play. Last night's setback was the Griffins' seventh in nine starts this year.

Canisius, behind 43-31 at halftime, managed to pull up to 50-37 with 12½ of the game remaining—only to run into a West Virginia barrage of 16 straight points over a period of only 1:33 which in effect settled the issue.

Greg Britz of Canisius topped all scorers with 22 points, but all five West Virginia starters were in double figures. Jody Gardner had 19 points, Lloyd Sharrar 16, Jerry West and Don Vincent 15 each and Bob Smith 12.

West Virginia also ran off 11 points in a row, six by West, in piling up a 31-15 lead in the first half. The Mountaineers made good 34 of 67 shots from the floor for 50.8 per cent, to Canisius' 21 of 76 and 27.6 per cent.

Sharrar had another big night around the backboards, pulling down 20 rebounds as West Virginia had a 61-46 edge in that department.

Film Of Marian Anderson Asia Tour Draws Praise

By CHARLES MERCEH
NEW YORK (AP)—A fine filmed account of Marian Anderson's tour of Asian countries on See It Now (CBS-TV) was first-class entertainment simply because the viewing audience heard and saw Miss Anderson singing. But the program was more than that. It was a moving document of what one woman, traveling 35,000 miles under auspices of the State Department and the American National Theatre and Academy, was able to do in winning friends for the nation. A viewer could conclude that one Miss Anderson can be more influential than two Spatniks.

The See It Now program Monday evening reminded one that

Boy Attends Rites For His Sister

PINEVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Paul Whitson was released from jail here to permit him to attend today the funeral of his sister who died, police said, of a blast from a shotgun in the youth's hands.

The services were for Gertrude Whitson, 13, of nearby Indian Creek, Circuit Judge Robert M. Worrell directed Paul Whitson to return here Saturday morning pending completion of an investigation into the girl's death.

State Police Cpl. C.W. Andrick said that the girl was struck in the heart the night of Dec. 30 in the kitchen of the four-room Whitson home, where a group of teenagers had gathered.

Paul Whitson and Dennis Lester, 19, both were taken into custody after the 10:30 p.m. shooting and were held in the Wyoming County jail here on open charges. Lester was released yesterday.

Andrick said that the girl and Lester had been teasing Paul Whitson about a girl friend a short time before the two youths decided to go rabbit hunting.

Andrick's investigation showed that when Paul Whitson and Lester passed through the kitchen, the girl again tossed a kidding remark at her brother. As he turned to ward her, the 12-gauge shotgun in his hands discharged.

Paul Whitson told Andrick that he did not know the weapon was loaded.

Viewers Tell Of Activity During Ads

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK (INS)—Years ago we asked what viewers did to attend today the funeral of a result was hilarious, perhaps even useful to the folks who create commercials.

We asked this question again a few days ago and now we have many replies. Apparently, TV commercials still own the copy-righted secret of making some people mad. A few readers advised us they didn't mind the commercials. Some of the letters follow:

"Nothing like TV commercials for keeping in trim," writes Paddy White, New York City. "I have a set of 20, 30 and 40 pound bells in my living room under the couch. The moment the commercial starts I drag them out and start my weight lifting. All time record—223 lifts during the Jack Paar Show. That includes station breaks."

Writes Mrs. R. Daub, Ridgefield Park, N. J.: "First commercial, let the dog out; 2nd let her in; 3rd, get the dog biscuits to keep her quiet; 4th, give dog water to absorb biscuits; 5th, read the Journal-American some more; 6th, take dog upstairs and put her to bed; 7th, come down and find what program is on; 8th, go to bed hoping against hope tomorrow's commercials will improve."

"TV commercials will make psychiatrists happy," writes P. O. Dee, Newark, N. J. "I watch Harry and Bert Piel and laugh and laugh while I'm drinking Rheingold. But then I have guilt pains for not supporting Harry and Bert. I use a straight razor, so that keeps me from watching 'What's My Line' every other week, because I can't get used to an electric razor. I'm all right, emotionally, on the Perry Como Show, because I usually can find one product out of the five or six he advertises, and thus feel I have done my modest best. Sunday afternoons, however, are something terrible! Virtually nothing is sponsored, and I feel I must do something to justify taking up their time watching their shows.

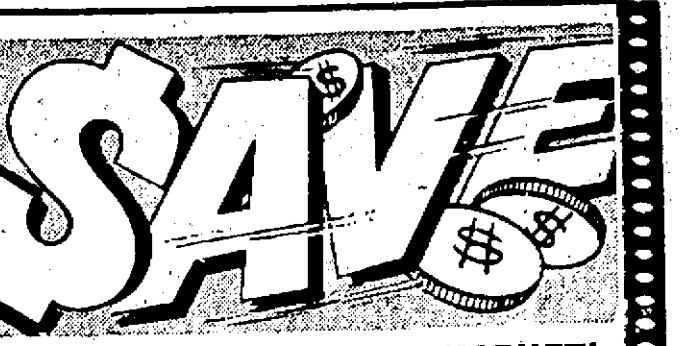

television will get here, because I would be grateful for the small luxury of paying for a show and then indulging in the ultimate luxury of getting mad at myself for paying good money for a bad program. This way, my hates and fears and repressions are bottled up inside, and I'm the giant economy size right now, anyway, and somehow it doesn't seem cricket to criticize a show I get for free, no matter how bad it is. If it's good, there I go again feeling guilty.

"Ed Sullivan did me a great favor, too. Now I can watch his show since Kodak is sponsoring it, because you see, I bought a little Kodak two-buck box camera 23 years ago and it still works fine, and I feel that having it handy, and every summer buying some films for it is my ticket of admission to Sullivan's variety show.

"To be more specific about what I do during the TV commercials tonight, may I say I simply took time out during both Climax and Playhouse 90 and wrote this letter. I hope it was not a waste of their good commercial time; nor of yours."

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, Jan. 4, 1958:

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Today should be unusual in many ways. It favors outdoor activities, also is a challenge to enter and support new scientific studies, to instruct others in such projects.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Scientific and artistic leanings encouraged now. There's no better time to improve one's skill, display ingenuity, least to become competent in more than one craft.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Develop and exploit your talents, but all problems can be rightly resolved when in your best frame of mind. You can qualify as tops in your field.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—You may have to soft-pedal ambitions now as they won't run away with your common sense. Keep yourself busy but don't overdo. This can be a productive, gratifying day. Aim also to make it a happy one.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Virgo)—Influences point to good returns for sincere efforts. It may not be a wholly generous period, but endeavor to don't expect the unreasonable.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Libra)—You may have to handle exacting matters now. Furnish it, but don't break into a storm of emotions. Negotiate where you should but don't force issues. Have some fun, too.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—Perhaps the big problem now will be to avoid miscalculations, over-evaluations. Be careful in all departments. Make some time for relaxation, too. Enjoy your family.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 23 (Capricorn)—A grand period for purposeful, thoughtful action. Add a little ingenuity to your activities to make them more interesting. Smart agents helps to sell your wares.

JANUARY 24 to FEBRUARY 23 (Aquarius)—Good intentions can be carried out with success. Have no regrets this day. Keep abreast of the newest methods, materials. Let your intuition and calm reasoning guide you.

FEBRUARY 24 to MARCH 23 (Pisces)—Heed advice to sagittarius. You have interesting, intriguing influences, so you should manage well. Enjoy a talent hobby, the great outdoors.

YOU BORN TODAY can be the backbone of a family, an organization, a school, a government, a mission of good will. You are strong and fearless in defense of right and justice. There are fine qualities and you must live up to them. Of course, you have a few faults, as everyone has—stubbornness, a tendency to fear criticism, and probably a tendency to enter enterprises which have not been thoroughly investigated. Dick Freeman of Washington, D. C., is another top player who is still well on the younger side of 30.

He took a full 10 seconds, which for him is prolonged study, before playing to trick one. Then he went up with dummy's ace of diamonds, led a heart and finessed his queen.

When that card held he played the ace of clubs and a low club and finessed dummy's nine. From then on the hand was easy. He took the king of clubs, finessed hearts a second time, played the ace of hearts and one club and wound up with three hearts, four clubs and the other two aces for the needed nine tricks. The king of diamonds supplied an over-trick.

Why did Dick play the hand that way? No, he had not seen the East and West cards. He

Coal Industry On Skids In Pennsylvania

Anthracite Output Lowest Since 1878, Employment Falls

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania's declining coal industry, after an upturn in 1956, resumed the skid downhill in 1957.

The State Mines Department made public the figures today, blaming the downward trend on mild weather that cut into coal consumption.

"The coal industry has a multitude of problems but one that is toughest to confront is the weather," said a spokesman. "A cold winter—and we've had anything but—would be a welcome shot in the arm to both the anthracite and bituminous coal industries."

The number of mine employees in the hard coal region fell to a new low. As of Nov. 30, 25,097 were listed as working in and about anthracite mines—a drop of nearly 10,000 from 1956. In 1949, there were 72,209 employees.

In the bituminous fields, the number of mine workers totaled 42,646 as of Nov. 30 compared to 50,529 in 1956 and as many as 100,000 in 1949.

Production figures for 1957 showed a similar story. Hard coal tonnage in the past year totaled 23 millions compared to 28,175,633 in 1956 and the all-time high of nearly 100 1/2 millions in 1917.

This is the lowest hard coal production since 1878 when nearly 21 millions were produced.

The soft coal output in 1957 was estimated at 84 million tons compared to 88,273,730 produced in 1956 and the all-time high of 177 millions in 1918 and the last previous low of nearly 77 millions in 1935.

Fifty-two persons were killed in bituminous coal mines and 49 in anthracite pits during the first 11 months of 1957.

Second Bond Set Against Fire Captain

PARKERSBURG (AP)—Fire Capt. Bernard A. Trippett had until 11:30 a.m. today to post a second $1,000 bond pending presentation to a Jan. 27 grand jury of charges that he received stolen property in a theft ring.

Municipal Judge J. Fred Earley ordered the 47-year-old Trippett, veteran of 20 years of fire department service, held to the grand jury at the conclusion yesterday of a hearing that ran into the evening.

Trippett was one of six firemen and a house builder against whom charges were filed in an investigation into a theft ring which police said has been in operation for at least two years at Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Firemen have worked as part-time employees at the store. Trippett opened yesterday's hearing by entering a plea of not guilty to the charge against him.

Louis C. Wright, another fireman charged with grand larceny, testified yesterday that he obtained a gas hot water heater from the Sears warehouse at Trippett's request and gave it to the captain.

Trippett and fireman Ralph C. Grimm, who likewise has been charged with receipt of stolen property, hauled the heater away in a truck, Wright related, and did not pay him for it.

Eugene Wilson, an auditor at Sears, testified that a heater prosecution obviously was attempting to show was similar to that mentioned in Wright's testimony.

Trippett was free on $1,000 bond before his hearing before Earley. The additional bond was imposed at the conclusion of yesterday's session.

West Virginia Meetings Set

The Beckley meeting will be followed on Feb. 5 by a second at Charleston. Here is the remainder of the schedule: Feb. 6, Petersburg; 7, Martinsburg; 10, Elkins; 11, Morgantown; 12, Wheeling, and 13, Parkersburg. Lane said all would begin at 7:30 p.m.

Burgeoning Growth Seen In Baltimore

Metropolitan Area To Have 250,000 More Jobs By '75

BALTIMORE (AP)—An economic forecaster has predicted a burgeoning growth for the Baltimore Metropolitan Area between now and 1975.

By the 20th Century's three-quarter mark, he said, the area will have an increase in employment of 250,000 jobs. It also will have an increase in population of one million people.

The predictions were made by Dr. Ernest Jurkat of Market Research, Inc., of Philadelphia, who has been conducting a study for the Planning Council of the Greater Baltimore Committee.

Dr. Jurkat's report was made public today by Charles H. Buck, chairman of the Greater Baltimore Committee, J. Jefferson Miller, president of the Committee for Downtown, and Hunter Moss, chairman of the Planning Council.

38 Per Cent Increase

The report shows that to reach the 911,000 jobs forecast by 1975, a 38 per cent increase will be required over the area's 1956 level of 660,000 jobs estimated by the Department of Employment Security.

The metropolitan area includes Baltimore City and Anne Arundel and Baltimore counties.

The 1975 population of the area was forecast as 2.4 million, an increase of one million persons over 1950. That would be an 80 per cent growth in 25 years.

Population is expected to increase at a more rapid rate than employment for three reasons, the report said. These are: (1) There will be a large proportion of children in the population because of recent high birth rates; (2) there will be a large increase in the number of aged persons because of increased life expectancy; and (3) increases in the average length of the educational period will retard the number of young adults entering the labor force.

High Investment Level

The study said a high level of local private and public investment is necessary to provide the industrial plant and community facilities required for the employment levels forecast.

The Baltimore area's employment increase is forecast at a rate somewhat higher than that projected for the nation as a whole.

For the United States, the increase from 1950 to 1975 is forecast at 55 per cent.

However, Baltimore's projected increase of 38 per cent is considerably below that forecast for Washington, D.C.

While employment will increase 38 per cent, Dr. Jurkat predicted, the total value of all goods and services produced in the Baltimore Metropolitan Area will increase by 120 per cent.

The Jurkat report is being studied by the Planning Council to determine what it means in terms of downtown-type activities.

First Federal To Elect Directors

The annual meeting of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Baltimore Street, will be held Wednesday, January 15, at 2 p.m.

Election of two directors will head the agenda for the meeting in addition to any other business which may be transacted.

Nominated for the two director posts, each for three-year terms, are Gordon L. Bowie and Joseph K. Trenton.

Former Hatchery Employee Faces Additional Charges

Farrowings Show Drop

SALISBURY (AP) — A former woman employee of a Pittsfield hatchery has been charged with embezzlement as well as forgery.

Mrs. Shirley A. Venables, 23-year-old mother of three children, was arrested at her Willards home Christmas Day and since has been in Wicomico County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Two new warrants, sworn out yesterday in Peoples Court, increase the amount of a previous forgery warrant and also charge her with embezzlement. She is now charged with illegally obtaining $9,413 from the Walter H. Farlow and Sons hatchery at Pittsfield, nine miles east of here on U. S. 50.

One warrant alleges that Mrs. Venables forged 32 checks totaling $4,748 between Feb. 8 and Nov. 18, 1957. The other charges her with embezzling $4,667 in company funds.

Olis Farlow of the hatchery said he swore out the warrants after a firm of Certified Public Accountants audited company books.

Mrs. Venables' bond was continued at $10,000 by Judge Fanny Murphy.

Economic Study Units Planned By Chamber

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce has organized an economic discussion group and plans for a second group are being made.

Sessions for the first group will begin on Wednesday, January 22, at 7:30 p. m. and will continue for 17 weeks.
